

Valence Asymmetries in Moral Emotion Lexicons

English, Russian, and Kazakh in a Parallel Gone with the Wind Corpus

English

Russian

Kazakh

Benedict (1946): Shame Cultures vs. Guilt Cultures

The most influential cross-cultural framework for moral emotions — and its central problem

“Shame comes from not living up to social obligations. You can feel guilty about a crime that goes unnoticed. Shame depends on the observation of others.”

— Benedict, The Chrysanthemum and the Sword (1946)

GUILT cultures (West)

- Christian tradition of sin, repentance, reparation
- Individual moral responsibility
- Internal regulator: conscience, Gewissen, Moralische Gesetz (Kant)
- Control via inner voice — no audience needed

SHAME cultures (East)

- Samurai seppuku; Japanese face culture
- Control via societal observation and fear of dishonor
- Preventive: honor lost cannot be restored
- Extreme form: honor killing, honor suicide

Critical problem: Benedict's binary operates entirely in English and assumes shame/guilt/conscience/honor categories are universally applicable

The English System as Default: Two Emotions, Two Regulators

SHAME

Negative

External

audience-dependent negative sanction

HONOR

Positive

External

audience-dependent positive regulator

GUILT

Negative

Internal

self-generated
negative sanction

CONSCIENCE

Positive

Internal

self-generated
positive regulator

What Neuroscience Tells Us About Self-Conscious Emotions: Distinct Signatures Across Shame, Guilt, Embarrassment

Singh & Bhushan (2025) systematic review of 23 neuroimaging and psychophysiology studies (2000–2024). Each self-conscious emotion has a measurable, distinct profile.

Shame	Guilt	Embarrassment
Neural ACC + mPFC: social evaluation, self-referential pain Body Thermal arousal in eye/brow region; avoidance/withdrawal; impairs working memory Behavior Desire to hide, sink, disappear; increased cardiovascular arousal	Neural vmPFC + TPJ: moral cognition, empathy, reparative intent Body Greater cheek/mouth arousal; dorsal mPFC activation Behavior Approach behavior: apologize, confess, repair; no recognizable nonverbal expression	Neural Insula + amygdala: social threat detection Body Blushing; peak onset ~17.2 years (audience-dependent) Behavior Gaze aversion, self-touching; stronger in collectivist contexts

BUT: 23/23 studies used WEIRD samples. Singh & Bhushan (2025) explicitly call for non-Western research. Language data provides a proxy for cross-cultural emotion architecture.

Trilingual Corpus of Gone with the Wind: Translation as a Cross-Cultural Diagnostic

*Holding situations, actions, and social contexts constant across languages isolates lexical and cultural differences in valence assignment – the closest thing to controlled experimentation

The novel depicts a historically specific shame-oriented moral order – honor, reputation, public evaluation, face – in a sense close to Benedict's (1946) 'shame society'

1

Fix the situation

English source text holds context constant: same characters, scene, moral dilemma in all three languages

2

Observe translation choices

Russian and Kazakh translators must choose which lexeme to use for each English moral emotion token

3

Asymmetry = cultural evidence

Systematic shifts in polarity, evaluative strength, or emotion domain reveal the lexical architecture of each culture

4

Supplement with reference corpora

Findings calibrated against TenTen corpora, Russian National Corpus, Leipzig, Almaty Kazakh corpora for broader validity

Acknowledgement

Lara Yestay

Research Assistant Nazarbayev University

Compiled and annotated the Kazakh translation layer of the Gone with the Wind parallel corpus

Kazakh glosses ·

Temporal Layers

1861–1873

1936

1982

2023

Historical Setting

American Civil War & Reconstruction

English Original

Mitchell writes in the idiom of a guilt society

Russian Translation

Ozerskaya (vol. 1)
Kudryavtseva (vol. 2)

Kazakh Translation

Shamyratova (vol. 1)
Abishkyzy (vol. 2)

The lexical choices made by each author reflect the moral-emotion vocabulary available in their language and culture at the time of writing. Because all lexical choices occur in the same situations, differences in word choice are more revealing than if we compared unrelated corpora. The comparison remains fully informative.

Gone with the Wind: Characters and Morality

Scarlett O'Hara

SHAME

externally motivated

Mostly feelings shaped by the awareness of violating social norms

What will others think?
What will my mother think?

Rhett Butler

NO SHAME, NO HONOR

social norms rejected

Against societal morality: values only inner moral virtue (Melanie's kind of honor)

I don't care about opinions

Ashley Wilkes

HONOR

guided by honor code

Strongly guided by societal morality honor above all

Melanie Hamilton

HONOR

moral virtue

Strongly guided by inner moral code, may violate societal expectations inner virtue

English Moral Emotion Lexicon in Gone with the Wind

SHAME

n=129

A word cloud for the emotion 'SHAME' in a dark red color. The words are of varying sizes and orientations. The most prominent words are 'ashamed', 'shame', and 'shamelessly'. Other visible words include 'shameful', 'shameless', 'shamefaced', 'shamed', 'unashamed', 'to shame', 'unashamedly', and 'shamelessness'.

HONOR

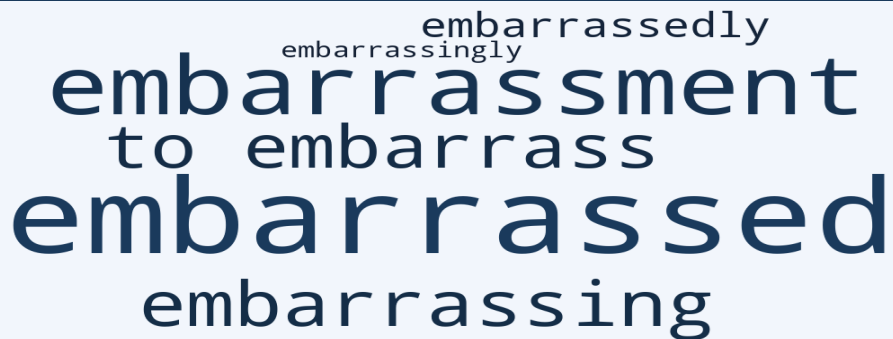

n=68

A word cloud for the emotion 'HONOR' in a gold color. The words are of varying sizes and orientations. The most prominent words are 'honorable', 'honor', and 'dishonorable'. Other visible words include 'honored', 'dishonor', 'to honor', and 'dishonorable'.

EMBARRASSMENT

n=98

A word cloud for the emotion 'EMBARRASSMENT' in a dark blue color. The words are of varying sizes and orientations. The most prominent words are 'embarrassment', 'embarrassed', and 'embarrassing'. Other visible words include 'embarrassingly', 'embarrassedly', 'to embarrass', and 'embarrassing'.

GUILT

n=45

A word cloud for the emotion 'GUILT' in a dark blue color. The words are of varying sizes and orientations. The most prominent words are 'guilt', 'guilty', and 'guiltless'. Other visible words include 'guiltily' and 'guiltless'.

English Moral Emotion Lexicon in Gone with the Wind

CONSCIENCE

n=41

conscientiously

conscience

conscienceless

DIGNITY

n=49

dignity

dignified

HUMILIATION

n=28

humility

humiliation

humiliate humiliating humiliated

DISGRACE

n=18

disgrace

disgraceful

to disgrace

disgracefully

REMORSE

n=10

remorseless

remorse

MORTIFICATION

n=8

mortification

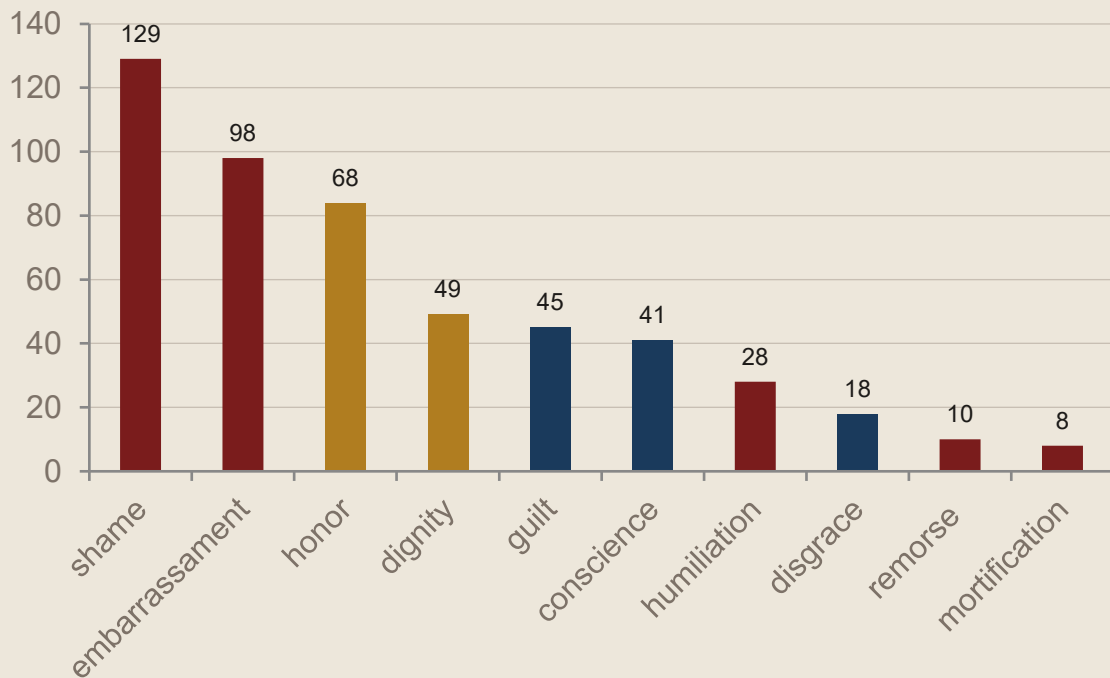

mortifying

mortified

Corpus Overview: 494 English Tokens, 11 Semantic Domains, Grouped into 4 Major Semantic Categories – ‘Shame,’ ‘Honor,’ ‘Guilt,’ ‘Conscience’

Negative dominates quantitatively and qualitatively, as expected

281

SHAME – affect, negative,
externally motivated
shame, embarrassment,
mortification, humiliation, disgrace

117

HONOR – attribute, positive, externally motivated
honor, dignity

55

GUILT – affect, negative, internally motivated guilt, remorse

41

CONSCIENCE – attribute, positive, internally motivated
conscience

How do categories work across languages?

Sometimes, the categories appear to overlap cross-linguistically

English: shame

*Scarlett leaped to her feet,
her face red with shame

Shame about breaking societal conventions of morality, acting as a force that triggers physical reactions

Russian: styda ‘shame’

*Skarlett vskochila s kresla, sgoraya ot styda

‘Scarlett leaped to her feet
burning from shame’

Kazakh: ūiat ‘shame’

Skarlett ūiat-tan örtenip kreslo-dan atyp turdy

‘Scarlett shame-from burning chair-from jumping stood’

Episode: Rhett suggests Scarlett becomes his mistress. She blurts out a practical objection about ending up with a “a passel of brats”. After saying it she realizes how improper her response sounded, revealing her as an immoral person. The audience is Rhett.

Sometimes, the nominations shift within the same larger category

A different affective subtype is selected in the translation: shame => embarrassment

English: shame

She looked up at him imploringly, her face crimson with the shame of their last meeting

Shame about breaking social conventions in public, as a force triggering physical reactions

Russian: smushchenje 'embarrassment'

Zardevshis' ot smushcheniya, ona s mol'boy podnyala na nego glaza

'Blushing with embarrassment, she lifted her eyes to him pleadingly'

Kazakh: ūialu 'to be embarrassed, ashamed', qysylu 'to feel awkward'

Ūiala qysylğan Skarlett oğan basyn köterip qarady*

'Being embarrassed/ashamed and awkward (lit. constrained), Scarlett raised her head and looked at him'

Episode: In a public setting, Scarlett recognizes the man approaching her as Rhett Butler, who had witnessed her humiliating confession to Ashley. She tries to flee, but her skirt catches on a nail, adding to her embarrassment.

Sometimes, a different larger category appears in the translation

For example, a shift from guilt to conscience and shame

English: guilt

Scarlett dropped her eyes unwillingly, the first feeling of guilt at her intended conduct creeping over her

Guilt for a planned but yet uncommitted moral transgression, with Mammy acting as Scarlett's externalized conscience

Russian: sovest' 'conscience'

Skarlett nevol'no opustila glaza, vpervye pochuvstvovav ukol sovesti iz-za svoei zatei

'Scarlett involuntarily lowered her eyes, feeling for the first time a pang of conscience because of her plan'

Kazakh: ūiat 'shame'

Skarlett ūiat-tyñ salmağy-nan auyr tartqandai bolğan kirpikterin tömen tüsire qoidy

'Scarlett lowered her eyelashes, as if they had become heavy from the weight of shame'

Episode: Scarlett plans to charm Rhett Butler to obtain money to save Tara, without any moral qualms. As she realizes that Mammy can see through her intentions, she briefly feels a pang of guilt

Sometimes, the translation leaves the domain of self-conscious moral emotions

Embarrassment becomes confusion or anger

English: embarrassment

Her conduct was a constant embarrassment to him, but he reckoned he could endure it for a while longer

Embarrassment for someone else, in a situation when control over another's behavior is expected yet impossible

Russian: zameshatel'stvo 'confusion'

Povedenie Skarlett ne perestavalo privodit' ego v zameshatel'stvo, no on reshyl, chto mozhet eshche kakoe-to vremya poterpet'

'Scarlett behavior continued to cause him confusion but he decided he could bear it for a while'

Kazakh: yzha 'anger'

Ärine, Skarlett-tiñ künige äldeneshe ret shekten shyğuy munyñ da yzasy-n keltirip, äbden jüikesin juqartty

'Of course Scarlett's going beyond limits several times a day also caused his anger and completely wore down his nerves'

Episode: Scarlett violates social expectations for a "proper" pregnant Southern lady, as she continues running the mills, and going around town publicly. Her behavior makes her husband Frank appear unable to control his household and undermines his reputation.

ENGLISH — Domain Structure of Moral Emotion Vocabulary

KAZAKH

Domain Structure of Moral Emotion Vocabulary (431 tokens)

UYAT shame / embarrassment / disgrace n=247 (50%)	UYAT/ AR / ABYROJ / NAMYS honor / conscience / dignity / pride n=142 (29%)	KINALI / AIYP guilt / blame / fault n=42 (8%)	OTHER extra-moral n=63 (13%)
--	--	--	---

uyat 'shame, conscience, disgrace'
uyalu 'to be ashamed, embarrassed, shy' uyatsyz 'shameless, impudent' uyalt- 'to cause to be embarrassed/ashamed'

maskara 'disgrace, infamy' qysylu 'to feel constrained' = embarrassed qymsynu 'to feel constrained' = embarrassed/ashamed ar 'conscience, shame, honor' namys 'honor, dignity, conscience' uzhdan 'conscience, honor' abyroj 'authority, prestige, reputation'

uyat 'shame, conscience, disgrace' ← shared ar-uyat 'conscience-shame' ar-namys 'conscience-honor-dignity' ar-uzhdan 'conscience-conscience-honor'

kinalı 'guilty, culpable' aiyp 'fault, blame, guilt' kinala- 'to indict, to blame' küna 'sin, fault, guilt (religious)'

ökinu 'to regret, repent'

ökinish 'regret, remorse, sorrow'

abyrzhu 'to be bewildered, worried' yza 'anger'
abdyra- 'to lose composure' angu- 'to be confused, struck dumb'

UYAT as a Translation Target: English → Kazakh

Kazakh uyat absorbs English tokens from all four domains – SHAME (including embarrassment), GUILT, CONSCIENCE, HONOR

SHAME
EMBARRASSMENT

GUILT

CONSCIENCE

HONOR

→ uyat, uyalu

→ uyat, ökinish

→ uyat, ar-uyat, uzhdan

→ ar-uyat, uyatsyz

“

ABAI

KUNANBAYEV

Abai Qūnanbaiūly

1845 – 1904

Qara Sözder (Book of Words)

negative pole · uyat feeling as externally motivated negative

“

*Children, when they are ashamed, are ready to fall through the floor;
while adults, as far as I know, at such moments do not even hide their eyes.*

Fifth Word

“

*He used to live without shame. It is better to die than to endure such an existence.
Spiritual quality – that is what matters in human life.*

positive pole · uyat regulator as internally motivated positive

Thirty-eighth Word

Kazakh UYAT: felt emotion vs. moral regulator

UYAT as felt emotion - shame, guilt, embarrassment

shame (n)

EN Scarlett leaped to her feet, her face red with shame.

KZ Skarlett uyattan örtenip kreslodan atyp turdy.

'Scarlett shame-from burning chair-from jumping stood'

guilt (n)

EN ... the first feeling of guilt at her intended conduct creeping over her.

KZ Skarlett uyattyñ salmağynan auyr tartqanday bolğan kirpikterin tömen tüsire qoydy.

'Scarlett lowered eyelashes as if heavy from the weight of uyat'

embarrassment (n)

EN ...not embarrass you in front of folks.

KZ ...dostarymyzdyñ aldynda eshqashan uyatqa qaldyrğan emes.

'never put us to shame (uyatqa) in front of our friends'

UYAT as behavioral regulator – conscience

conscience (n)

EN Her conscience smote her.

KZ Uyaty özimen tildeskendey.

'Her uyat spoke with her (as if)'

conscience (n)

EN Or was it her guilty conscience?

KZ Älde öziniñ uyaty taza bolmağan soñ da solay körinä me eken.

'Or was it because her uyat was not clean?'

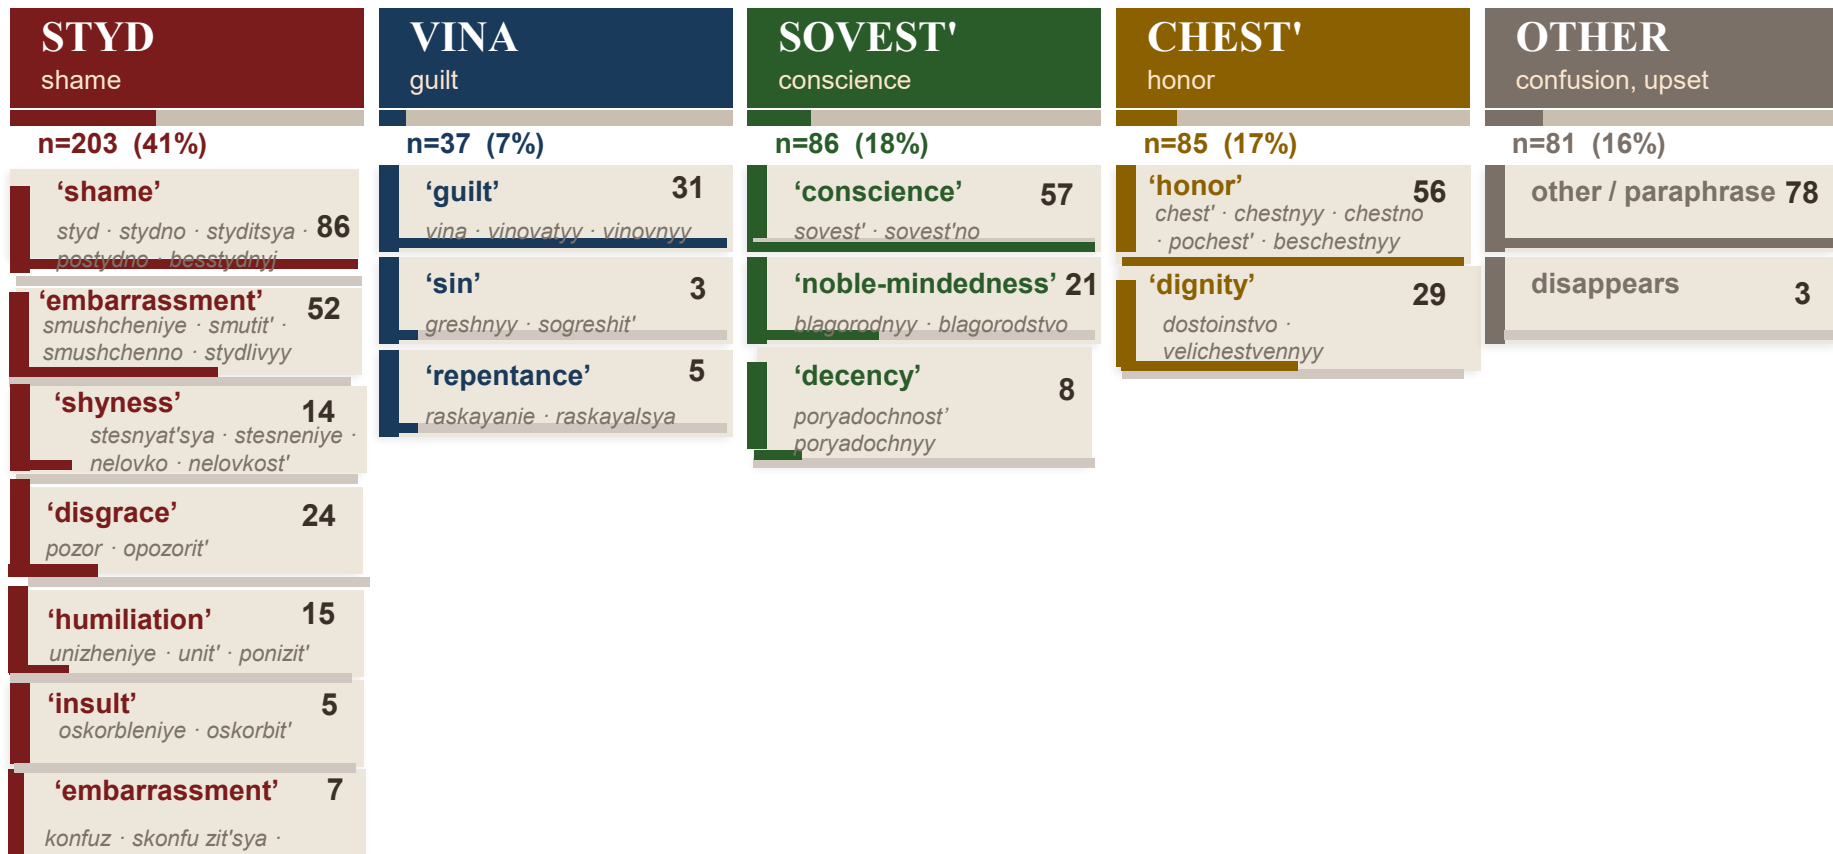

HONOR → the three-way split (more than 10 distinct lexemes)

AR / UZHDAN / AR-UYAT / AR-NAMYS / AR-UZDHAN	ABIROY	NAMYS
inner moral and/or social and behavioral code	reputation / dignity / prestige / feeling worthy and respected / self-esteem	threatened honor demanding protection
EN Knowing how Ashley valued honor above his life, Scarlett knew he must be writhing KZ Eshlidiñ ar-namysyn ömirinen de zhoğary qoyatynyn bilgen ... placing his conscience-honor-dignity higher even than his life	EN But it must be difficult to reconcile the honor of the Wilkeses with coveting your body KZ Sizdi iemdengisi kelgen yntyq sezimi men Uilksterdiñ abyrooy tarazyğa qatar tüşkende, özin ishten müzhip zheyitin şığar When his passionate desire to possess you and the honor-dignity of the Wilkeses are placed side by side on the scales, he must be gnawing himself from within	EN And to that grim community it was as if she had tried to betray the honor of them all. KZ Sonysymen tobynyñ aldynda bärin de satyp ketti, namystaryna tidi Thus, in front of the group, she sold everything off and touched their honor-dignity EN ...for all his prattle about truth and honor KZ Öziniñ shyndyq, ar-uyat, namys turaly äñgimellerine qaramastan Despite his/her stories about truth, honor-conscience, and honor-dignity
EN Nothing, he said quietly, nothing – except honor KZ Eshteñe zhoq, — dep qaytalady ol da, — ar-uyattan basqa eshteñe zhoq Nothing there is — he repeated — except for conscience-honor-shame, nothing there is

Key Kazakh Moral Concepts: Etymology, Meaning, and Semantic Space

RUSSIAN — Domain Structure of Moral Emotion Vocabulary (n=413 tokens)

Total domain: 494 tokens · SHAME 41% · GUILT 7% · HONOR 17% · CONSCIENCE 18% · OTHER 16%

ENGLISH → RUSSIAN: Where Each Cluster Goes (to ‘conscience’)

SHAME n=271 (55%)	198	styd · stydno · smushcheniye · pozor · unizheniye	STYD
	5	sovest'	SOVEST'
	68	exits moral domain (paraphrase / disappears)	OTHER
GUILT n=53 (11%)	37	vina · vinovatyy · vinovnyy · chuvstvo viny	VINA
	3	stydno (felt guilt → expressed as shame)	STYD
	8	ukol sovesti · sovest'	SOVEST'
	5	exits moral domain	OTHER
HONOR n=126 (26%)	85	chest' · dostoinstvo	CHEST'
	34	blagorodstvo · poryadochnost' (inner moral properties)	SOVEST'
	7	exits moral domain	OTHER
CONS.	41	sovest' (near 1:1 — most stable pair in corpus)	SOVEST'

SHAME → CONSCIENCE in Russian: when does shame become conscience?

When shame (or rather lack of it) is about harm to someone

EN no trace of shame for her unfilial treatment of Gerald...

RU nikakikh ugryzeniy sovesti ona ne ispytyvala

'She felt no gnawings of conscience'

EN You young misses ought ter tek shame, gittin' Miss Pitty in a state, ...

RU Kak zhe vam, molodye baryshni, ne sovest'no dovodit' miss Pitty

'How can you be no conscience upsetting Miss Pitty'

GUILT → CONSCIENCE in Russian: when does guilt become conscience?

When guilt is not a deed, but an inner voice or an emotional force

EN Her guilt rising up to accuse her

RU chuvstvuya vnezapno vspykhnuvshiye ugryzeniya sovesti

'feeling suddenly flared gnawings of
conscience'

EN 'Jealous – of me?' cried Scarlett, stricken with guilt

RU chuvstvuya lyogkyy ukol sovesti

'feeling a slight prick of conscience'

HONOR → CONSCIENCE domain in Russian: when does honor become decency and noble-mindedness?

When: When honor describes a person's innate inner virtue and personal moral code (integrity, nobility of soul) and not a societally and reputationally motivated regulator of behavior

EN He's scrupulous and honorable!

RU On chelovek, uvazhayushchyy sebya, sovestlivyy!

'He is a self-respecting, conscientious man'

→ honorable person = person with conscience

EN Honor has forbidden my telling this to you*

RU poryadochnost' zapreshchyet mne govorit' vam

'decency forbids me to tell you'

→ honor-as-an-inner code = decency

EN There's too much honor in her

RU Slishkom mnogo v ney blagorodstva

'there is too much noble-mindedness in her'

→ honor-as-an-inner code = noble-mindedness

Corpus Lexicon: All Lexemes Across Three Languages

Gone with the Wind parallel corpus · 494 English tokens · all word forms annotated

ENGLISH 34 forms · 494 tokens	RUSSIAN 44 forms · 413 tokens	KAZAKH 26 forms · 431 tokens
SHAME n=129 shame · ashamed · shameful · shameless · to shame	STYD n=203 (41%) sty'd · stydno · styditsya · postydno · besstydney	UYAT n=247 (50%) uyat · uyalu · uyalt- (caus.) · uyatsyz (neg.) · maskara
EMBARRASSMENT n=100 embarrassment · embarrassed · to embarrass · embarrassing	SMUSHCHENIYE n=29 smushcheniye · smutit' · smushchenno · stydlivyy	QYSYLU / QYMSYNU n≈10 qysylu · qymsynu (physically felt shame / awkward)
HUMILIATION n=30 humiliation · humiliated · to humiliate · humiliating	POZOR n=24 pozor · opozorit'	KINALI / AIYP n=42 (8%) kinali · aiyp · kinala- · küna (guilt / blame / sin)
DISGRACE n=18 disgrace · disgraceful · to disgrace	UNIZHENIYE n=15 unizheniye · unit' · ponizit'	ÖKINISH n≈8 ökinish · ökin- (remorse / regret)
MORTIFICATION n=9 mortification · mortified · mortifying	STESNENIYE n=8 stesnyat'sya · stesneniye · nelovko · nelovkost'	AR n≈29 ar (core moral self — conscience · shame · honour)
GUILT n=45 guilt · guilty · guiltily	KONFUZ n=7 konfuz · skonfuzit'sya	AR-UYAT ar-uyat (conscience-shame compound)
REMORSE n=10 remorse	OSKORBLENIYE n=5 oskorbleniye · oskorbit'	AR-NAMYS ar-namys (conscience-honour compound)
HONOR n=84 honor · honorable · dishonorable · to honor · honored	VINA n=37 (7%) vina · vinovatyh · vinovyy · chuvstvo viny	AR-UZHDAN ar-uzhdan (conscience-honour-spirit compound)
DIGNITY n=68 dignity · dignified	RASKAYANIE n=5 raskayanie · raskayalsya	NAMYS n≈23 namys (social honour · dignity · wounded pride)
CONSCIENCE n=45 conscience · conscientiously · conscienceless	SOVEST' n=86 (18%) sovest' · sovest'no · ukol sovesti · ugryzheniya sovesti	ABIROY n≈28 abiroy (prestige · authority · reputation)
	CHEST' n=85 (17%) chest' · chestnyy · chestno · pochest' · beschestnyy	UZHDAN n≈5 uzhdan (deep conscience · spirit — Arabic wijdān)
	DOSTOINSTVO n=3 dostoinstvo · velichestvennyy	ABYRZHU / ANGU n≈8 abyrzh · angu- · abdyra- (agitation / confusion — exits moral domain)
	BLAGORODSTVO n=3 blagorodnyy · blagorodstvo PORYADOCHNOST' n=8 poryadochnost' · poryadochnyy

Valence Asymmetries in Gone with the Wind: Negative vs. Positive

English specialises in negative-feeling differentiation · Kazakh specialises in positive-regulator differentiation · Russian intermediate, closer to English

ENGLISH	RUSSIAN	KAZAKH
NEGATIVE — highly differentiated	NEGATIVE — moderately differentiated	NEGATIVE — sparse (uyat covers most) shame social exposure · audience-dependent	styd shame (social + moral blend)	uyat shame · guilt · disgrace · embarrassment guilt inner moral breach · no audience needed	stydno shame / guilt feeling	maskara public disgrace · infamy embarrassment lighter social transgression	pozor disgrace	qysylu/qymsynu physically felt negative emotions mortification deep shame + hurt pride	vina guilt (as act, not feeling) humiliation shame inflicted by another	chuvstvo viny feeling of guilt	POSITIVE — highly differentiated disgrace loss of standing · public dishonour	smushcheniye embarrassment · slight discomfort	ar conscience · shame · honour (core moral self)
remorse retrospective guilt + wish to undo		namys honor · dignity · wounded pride
POSITIVE — sparse	POSITIVE — bridging role	abiroy prestige · authority · reputation · dignity honor one word for external regulator	sovest' conscience	uzhdan conscience · honor conscience one word for internal regulator	chest' honor	ar-uyat conscience-shame compound poryadochnost' blagorodstvo decency · nobility	ar-namys conscience-honor compound ar-uzhdan conscience-honor

References

Emotion: universals & cross-cultural Darwin, C. (1872). The expression of the emotions in man and animals. London: John Murray.

Tomkins, S. S. (1962–1991). Affect Imagery Consciousness (Vols. 1–4). New York: Springer.

Izard, C. E. (1971). The Face of Emotion. New York: Appleton-Century-Crofts.

Plutchik, R. (1980). Emotion: A Psychoevolutionary Synthesis. New York: Harper & Row.

Frijda, N. H. (1986). The Emotions. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press.

Panksepp, J. (1998). Affective Neuroscience. New York: Oxford University Press.

Ekman, P. (1999). Basic emotions. In Handbook of cognition and emotion (pp. 45–60). Wiley.

Wierzbicka, A. (1999). Emotions across Languages and Cultures. Cambridge University Press.

Barrett, L. F. (2017). How Emotions Are Made: The Secret Life of the Brain. Houghton Mifflin Harcourt.

Jackson et al. (2019). Emotion semantics show both cultural variation and universal structure. Science, 366(6472), 1517–1522.

Shame, guilt, honour: theory & neuroscience

Benedict, R. (1946). The Chrysanthemum and the Sword. Boston: Houghton Mifflin.

Briggs, J. (1970). Never in Anger. Cambridge, MA: Harvard University Press.

Rosaldo, M. Z. (1980). Knowledge and Passion. Cambridge University Press.

Lutz, C. (1988). Unnatural Emotions. Chicago: University of Chicago Press.

Taylor, G. (1985). Pride, shame and guilt: Emotions of self-assessment. Oxford University Press.

Williams, B. (1993). Shame and necessity. University of California Press.

Nussbaum, M. C. (2004). Hiding from humanity: Disgust, shame, and the law. Princeton University Press.

Bedford, O. (2004). Guilt and shame in Chinese culture. Culture & Psychology, 10(1), 29–52.

Konstan, D. (2006). The Emotions of the Ancient Greeks. Toronto: University of Toronto Press.

Grecucci et al. (2023). The shame system: A unifying model. Frontiers in Psychology, 14, 1164068.

Singh, D. & Bhushan, B. (2025). Understanding shame, guilt, embarrassment and pride: a systematic review. Frontiers in Psychology, 16, 1678930.
<https://doi.org/10.3389/fpsyg.2025.1678930>

Lexicology, corpora, Russian & Kazakh

Apresyan, Yu. D. (1995). Obraz cheloveka po dannym yazyka. Voprosy yazykoznaniya, 1, 37–68.

Rakhilina, E. V. & Reznikova, T. I. (2013). Frejmovyj podkhod k leksicheskoy tipologii. VYa, 2, 3–31.

Boguslavskaya, O. Yu. (2014). VINA [dictionary entry]. Aktivnyj slovar' sovremennogo russkogo yazyka, vol. 2.

Shmelev, A. D. (2018). Gordost', styd i pozor v proizvedeniyakh Solzhenitsyna. Solzhenitsynskie tetrad, 6, 80–110.

Bektaev, K. B. (1999). Bol'shoj kazakhsko-russkij i russko-kazakhskij slovar'. Almaty: Altyn Kazyna.

Kaliev, B. (2014). Kazakhskij tolkovyj slovar' [Qazaq tilining tysindirme sozdigi]. Almaty.

Kuznetsov, S. A. (Ed.). (2000). Bol'shoj tolkovyj slovar' russkogo yazyka. St Petersburg: Norint.

Morkovkin, V. V. et al. (2023). Bol'shoj universal'nyj slovar' russkogo yazyka (2 vols). Moscow: Gramota; AST-Press.

Thibault, H. & Caron, J.-F. (Eds.). (2022). Uyat and the Culture of Shame in Central Asia. Palgrave Macmillan.

Ronson, J. (2015). So you've been publicly shamed. Riverhead Books.

Rzyski, C. et al. (2019). The Database of Cross-Linguistic Colexifications. DOI: 10.1038/s41597-019-0341-x.

Oxford English Dictionary. Oxford University Press. Accessed August 1, 2025. <https://www.oed.com>.